

The Arkansas Geographic Alliance is excited to announce that it will be hosting a workshop for K-12 teacher candidates on Saturday, April 21, 2012, at the Brewer-Hegeman Conference Center on the University of Central Arkansas campus. The title of our workshop is GEOGRAPHY: A Window on the World.

Our goals are to motivate, inform, guide, and support K-12 teacher candidates in teaching geography and integrating geography across the curriculum in every classroom. During this day-long workshop, K-12 teacher candidates will hear geography specialists present geography content appropriate for all classrooms, interact with geography teachers as they discuss engaging teaching strategies and learning experiences useful across the curriculum, view various types of technology to access electronic resources, and learn about the Arkansas Geographic Alliance as a support for all educators. For only $10.00, all attendees will receive lessons, resources, lunch, a voucher for $10.00 of geography materials, and much more!

To register for the workshop, please email Dr. Nancy Gallavan at ngallavan@uca.edu for a registration form.

For more information about the Arkansas Geographic Alliance, check us out at <http://www.arkansasgeographicalliance.com/default.asp?>